CHAPTER IX.

As he spoke a fresh, youthful voice was heard in the hall. "Father, Kate, where are you? Come see our string of— Why, what's all this?" said a young man, standing, astonished, in the door of the room. It was Philip Wilton, holding a long string of fish, the result of their day's sport. Behind him stood the tall, stalwart figure of the old sailor. "Talbot—you? Where are father and Kate? What are these men doing in the dining room? Oh, what is that?" he said, sinking back in horror from the corpse of the soldier. "Dunmore's raiders have been here." "And Katharine?" "A prisoner, with your father, Philip, but I trust both are uninjured." "Mr. Seymour, sir, where is he?" said the deep voice of the boatswain as he advanced farther into the room. The light fell full upon him. He was a splendid specimen of athletic manhood—tall, powerful, long armed, slightly bent in the shoulders. Decision and courage were seen in his bearing and were written on his face, burned a dull mahogany color by years of exposure to the weather. He was clothed in the open shirt and loose trousers of a seafaring man, and he stood with his feet slightly apart, as if balancing himself to the uneasy roll of a ship. Honesty and fidelity and intelligence spoke out from his eyes, and affection and anxiety were heard in his voice. "Lieutenant Seymour," he repeated, "where is he, sir?" "There," said Talbot, stepping aside and pointing to the floor. "Not dead, sir, is he?" "Not yet, Bentley," Seymour, with regaining strength, replied. "I am not done for this time."

"Oh, Mr. John, Mr. John," said the old man tenderly, bending over him, "I thank God to see you alive again. But, as I live, they shall pay dear for this— whoever has done it—the bloody, marauding ruffians!" "Yes, Bentley; I join you in that vow," said Talbot. "And I, too," added Philip bravely. "And I," whispered the wounded man. "It's one more score that has got to be paid off by King George's men, one more outrage on this country, one more debt we owe the English," Bentley continued fiercely. "No; these were Americans—Virginians, more's the shame—led by that blackguard Johnson. He has long hated the colonel," replied Talbot. "Curses on the ruffians!" said the old man. "Who is it that loves freedom and sees not that the blow must be struck today? How can any man born in this land hesitate to— He stopped suddenly as his eyes fell upon Talbot, whose previous irresolution and refusal had been no secret to him. "Don't stop for me, Bentley," said that young man gently. "I am with you now. I came over this evening to tell our friends here that I start north tomorrow as a volunteer to offer my services to General Washington."

"Oh, Hilary," exclaimed Philip joyfully, "I am so glad! Would that Katharine and father could hear you now!" Seymour lifted his unwounded arm and beckoned to Talbot. "God bless you, Talbot," he said. "To hear you say that is worth a dozen cracks like this, and I feel stronger every minute. If it were not for the old wound I wouldn't mind this thing a bit. But there is something you must do. There is an armed cutter stationed up the river at Alexandria. Send some one to notify the commander of the Virginia naval militia there. They will pursue and perhaps recapture the party. But the word must be carried quickly. I fear it will be too late as it is."

"I will go, Hilary, if you think best," "Very well, Philip. Take your best horse and do not delay a moment. Katharine's liberty and your father's life, perhaps, depend upon your promptness. Better see Mr. West as you go through the town—your father's agent, you know—and ask him to call upon me tomorrow. Stop at the Hall as you come back."

"All right, Hilary. I will be in Alexandria in four hours," said Philip, running out. "Bentley, I am going to take Lieutenant Seymour over to my plantation. Will you stay here and look after the house until I can notify Colonel Wilton's agent at Alexandria to come and take charge, or until we hear from the colonel what is to be done? You can come over in the morning, you know, and hear about our progress. I am afraid the slaves would never stay here alone. They are so d—s—sized and terrorized now over these unfortunate occurrences as to be almost useless."

"Aye, aye, sir. If Lieutenant Seymour can spare me I will stay." "Yes, Bentley, do. I shall be in good hands at Fairview Hall." "This is arranged, then," said Talbot. "It is 9 o'clock. I think we would better start at once. I will go out and see that the arrangements about the carriage are made properly myself," he said, stepping through the door. Seymour's hand had closed tightly over something which had happened to fall near where it lay. "Bentley," he called, "what is this in my hand?" "It is a handkerchief, Mr. John—a woman's handkerchief, too, sir, and covered with blood."

Miss Rose Hennessy, well known as a poetess and elocutionist, of Lexington, Ky., tells how she was cured of uterine inflammation and ovaritis by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I enjoyed the best of health and thought that I would always do so. I attended parties and receptions thickly clad, and would be suddenly chilled, but I did not think of the results. I caught a bad cold eighteen months ago while menstruating, and this caused inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I suffered excruciating pains and kept getting worse. My attention was called to your Vegetable Compound and the wonderful cures it had performed, and I made up my mind to try it for two months and see what it would do for me. Within one month I felt much better, and at the close of the second I was entirely well."

"I have advised a number of my lady friends to use it, and all express themselves as well satisfied with the results as I was."—Miss Rose Nora Hennessy, 410 S. Broadway, Lexington, Ky. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

carry you to the carriage. Nay, sir, you must. You are too weak from loss of blood with two wounds on you to stand it. A few days will bring you about all right, though, I hope, sir."

"All ready, Bentley?" said Talbot, coming into the room. "The negro boys have rigged up a stretcher out of a shutter, and with mattress and blankets in the carriage I think we can manage, driving carefully, to take him over without any great discomfort. I have sent Dick on ahead to ride over to Dr. Clark's and bid him come to the Hall at once, so Mr. Seymour will be well looked after. By the way, Blodgett is dead. I had almost forgotten him. He evidently met and fought those fellows at the landing. We found him at the foot of the steps by the boat landing with two bodies. That reminds me one of them was alive when we came by. I told the men to bring all three of the bodies up. Here they are now. Are any of them alive yet, Caesar?"

"No, sir; dey's all ob 'em dead!" "Take the two redcoats into the dining room with the other one. Lie Blodgett here in the hall. He must have been killed instantly. Well, good-by; I shall be over in the morning," he exclaimed, extending his hand. "Goodby, sir," said the seaman, taking it in his own huge palm. "Take care of Lieutenant Seymour."

"Oh, never fear; we will." "And may God give the men who did this into our hands," added Bentley, raising his arms solemnly. "Amen," said Talbot, with equal gravity. Seymour was tenderly lifted into the carriage and attended by Talbot, who sat by his side. Followed by two servants, who had orders to get the horses, which they found tied where they had been left, the carriage drove off to the Hall. With what different thoughts was the mind of the young man busy! Scarcely an hour had elapsed since he galloped over the road a light hearted boy, flushed with hope, filled with confidence, delighted in his decision, anticipating a reception, meditating words of love. In that one hour the boy had changed from youth to man. The love which he had hardly dreamed was in his heart had risen like a wave and overwhelmed him. The capture and abduction of his sweetheart, the whole brutal and outrageous proceeding, had filled him with burning wrath. He could not wait to strike a blow for liberty against such tyranny now, and his soul was full of resentment to the mother he had loved and honored because she had held him back. All of the devoted past was forgotten in one impetuous desire of the present. Tomorrow should see him on the way to the army, he swore. He wrung his hands in potent passion.

"Katharine, Katharine, where are you?" he murmured. Seymour stirred. "Are you in pain, my friend?" "No," said the sailor quietly, his heart beating against the blood stained handkerchief as he echoed in his soul the words he had heard: "Katharine, Katharine, where are you? Where are you?"

"[TO BE CONTINUED.] A Score of Persons Injured. Danville, Ill., June 14.—A score of persons were injured, eleven severely, in the wrecking of the smoking car of a Chicago & Evansville passenger train on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, at Danville Junction. A defective switch upset the smoking car.

A Double Execution. Ossining, N. Y., June 14.—Albert Koepping, who murdered John Martine in Port Jarvis, and Oscar Borgstrom, who killed his wife in Mount Kisco, were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing. The executions took place without a hitch.

INDIANA G. A. R.

Department Encampment Is Now In Progress at Winona Lake.

GREAT CROWD PRESENT

Many Notables Are In Attendance at What Promises to Be Record-Breaking Meeting.

The People of Warsaw Have Made Elaborate Provisions For Veterans' Entertainment.

WARSAW, Ind., June 14.—Thousands of veterans have gathered here for the twenty-fifth annual state encampment of the G. A. R., Department of Indiana, which began at Winona Lake today and will continue Wednesday and Thursday. It is expected that the attendance this year will be the largest in the history of the organization. Elaborate preparations have been made for the big gathering and arrangements made to entertain 25,000 persons.

General Osterhaus will be present at the encampment, and many other notables, including General John C. Black, national commander; George W. Grubbs, state commander; Mrs. General John A. Logan, Governor W. T. Durbin and staff; J. Frank Hanly, and many other prominent persons, arrived today.

The annual parade will take place tomorrow and excursions will bring visitors from all over Indiana on that day. General business meetings will be held at the auditorium at Winona Lake on Wednesday afternoon and morning and on Thursday morning. The W. R. C. will hold a business meeting at the opera house on Thursday morning and the Ladies of the G. A. R. at the post room of Kosciusko Post G. A. R. on Thursday morning. Campfires will be held at the auditorium, Winona Lake, and at the opera house and court house in Warsaw on Wednesday evening. Regimental and company reunions will be held in the lodge halls on Wednesday and Thursday. A feature of the encampment will be a Mardi Gras parade this evening, followed by a grand fireworks display on the lake.

FIRE DEPARTMENT RESIGNS

Firemen Resent the Removal of Old Fire Chief at Princeton.

PRINCETON, Ind., June 14.—The new fire department regime is not without its embarrassments. The Republican city council recently elected W. A. Mossman fire chief, vice George Selzer, who had held the position for eleven years. Capt. Selzer commanded Company K, 159th Indiana infantry, during the Spanish-American war, and in his absence he was represented by a substitute. Ollie Sevdge was chosen assistant chief, and there were other changes. Following these appointments the old fire department resigned and with them went all the equipments of the sleeping rooms—bathrooms, heaters, carpets, etc., personal belongings of the old members. The new chief must reorganize the department throughout.

Coal Miners Return to Work. Terre Haute, Ind., June 14.—The trouble in the Sullivan county mines over the basis of pay has been settled by the operators agreeing to pay $5 cents a ton for screened coal. The dispute involved 500 miners at the Jackson Hill and Star City mines, and they had been receiving strike allowances from the United Mine Workers. The men claimed the option to be paid for screened coal instead of mine-run, at 5 cents a ton. The men did not object to the mine-run basis for coal sold as mine run, but contended that if sold as screened they were entitled to the higher price. At both mines notices have been posted that the screened basis is now effective.

Another Rensselaer Arrest. Rensselaer, Ind., June 14.—Walter M. White, assistant cashier of the defunct McCoy bank, who was included in the seven affidavits filed against the McCoy's father and son, owners of the bank, has been placed under arrest. White was arraigned for preliminary hearing, which resulted in remanding him for grand jury action in $300 on each of the seven affidavits, making a total of $2,100. His father, Robert White, and B. K. Zimmerman volunteered as bondsmen, and were readily accepted.

McCoy Will Get Out. Hammond, Ind., June 14.—A meeting of the Republican county chairman of the Tenth congressional district will be held in this city next Friday at which time the resignation of Thos. McCoy, the present district chairman, and the man who is now under arrest, charged with embezzlement of the funds of the Rensselaer bank, will be accepted. His successor will be elected at the same meeting.

Deadly Saloon Fight. Indianapolis, June 14.—Thos. Howard was stabbed to death by William Williams during a drunken fight in the rear of Adolph Kohn's saloon, 938 Massachusetts avenue. Both men were negroes. Williams fled as soon as the fight was over and was captured a few hours later.

IN FINE CONDITION

Reports That Mr. Hanly Is Worn Out Belied by His Looks.

Indianapolis, June 14.—J. Frank Hanly of Lafayette and Hugh Th. Miller of Columbus, nominee for governor and lieutenant governor respectively, called on Chairman Goodrich and Secretary Sims at the Republican state committee headquarters today. Mr. Hanly's looks belie the statement that he is almost worn out from overwork. On the contrary he looks in the pink of good health and spirits, but to make sure, he is going away during the month of July for a quiet vacation in the northern woods, where it is not probable that he will hear a word of politics. His friends are confident that he will prove one of the most popular and effective candidates who ever headed a Republican state ticket in Indiana. Mr. Miller is in fine health but he expects to spend a few weeks rustivating before the campaign opens.

Chairman Goodrich reluctantly made the prediction today that Senator Charles W. Fairbanks will be nominated for vice president. He is one of the party leaders who have consistently opposed the boom from its inception. He still has a slight hope that the tide may turn toward someone else, but he does not think the senator can escape unless he says square out that he won't accept. Chairman Goodrich said that Senator Fairbanks has not said anything to him as to whether or not he will accept the nomination or whether he cares for it, but he declared that he informed the senator that he did not think he should accept and that in his opinion a vast majority of the Republicans of the state feel the same way. Chairman Goodrich said that the delegates will go to Chicago without any definite plans for heading off the boom. The statement of Lieutenant Governor Timothy Woodruff of New York, who has been here this week, that New York is for Fairbanks and will support him, has almost convinced Chairman Goodrich and his associates that the die is cast and that the senator will be nominated.

The veteran Major George W. Steele of Marion, as brown as a berry and apparently in better health than he has been in recent years, called on Governor Durbin and other friends here today. The major is not in politics in the sense of being a candidate, yet he has not lost interest in the big and fascinating game, for he is making preparations to attend the national convention at Chicago next week. As he was a member of the congressional committee on ways and means for twenty years, his ideas regarding the platform will receive consideration. He is of the opinion that the party will favor such tariff revision as is deemed necessary, but he is fully convinced that the tariff should be revised by its friends—that is, the Republican party, from his point of view. It is not likely that the major will ever be a candidate for another elective office, but it would not be surprising if some good federal position should be opened to him.

On the theory that "the best is none too good," the headquarters will be arranged for the Indiana delegation to the Republican national convention at Chicago. The delegation is liable to be one of the "big features," as John B. Cockrum, chairman of the committee on arrangements, has employed the Second regiment band of Chicago, one of the greatest musical organizations there, to play two days at the headquarters at the Auditorium Annex and to head the Indiana procession to the convention hall. He expects to have Senators Fairbanks, Beveridge, Governor Durbin and Chairman Goodrich, the Indiana "big four," in line behind the band with the rest of the delegates following. The largest and most beautiful room in the Auditorium Annex has been set aside for the Indiana crowd, and the decorations will be befitting a state that may land the second place on the ticket.

It looks as if Senator Albert J. Beveridge will be one of the most conspicuous figures of the coming national convention. He has been notified of his selection to make the principal speech seconding the nomination of President Roosevelt—a distinction that his constituents deeply appreciate. If the name of Senator Fairbanks is presented for vice president by some other state, then it is very likely that Senator Beveridge, as chairman of the delegation and as Senator Fairbanks' colleague, will make the seconding speech. So the junior senator may have the honor of seconding the nomination of both candidates.

Got Beyond His Depth. Indianapolis, June 14.—While fishing in White river near Fairview with a party of friends, Charles Warner, aged twenty-one years, whose home is in Columbus, Ind., was drowned. He had waded out into the stream so that he could make his line reach the deep water, and got beyond his depth.

Tucker to Be Arraigned. Cambridge, Mass., June 14.—District Attorney Sanderson and J. D. Vahey, counsel for Charles H. Tucker, have decided that Tucker should be arraigned on Thursday in the superior court here on the indictment found last week charging him with the murder of Mabel Page.

He Made Death Certain. Chicago, June 14.—T. H. Dickinson, a traveling salesman of Lexington, Ky., committed suicide by drinking prussic acid at the Victoria hotel. Domestic troubles are said to have been the reason for Dickinson ending his life.

AN ILLINOIS ROW

Contest Over Control of State Committee Dominates the Convention.

CANDIDATES NOT IN IT

The Men Who Are Seeking Places on the Ticket Are Secondary Figures in the Convention.

John P. Hopkins Making the Fight of His Life With Hopeful Outlook.

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—Candidates who are to be nominated in the Democratic state convention, which was called at noon today, have been shoved completely into the background by the bitter factional fight which has broken out for the control of the state machinery. The selection of a candidate for governor and the question of whether or not Illinois shall send to the St. Louis convention a delegation instructed by William R. Hearst, occupies a large section of the background when compared with the problem of whether John P. Hopkins of Chicago shall retain his position at the head of the state central committee, or whether he shall be deposed and his power given to Millard Dunlap, Theodore Nelson and other men, all of whom are actively working to promote the interests of Mr. Hearst.

The fight opened on the question of a selection of a temporary chairman of the convention. It is construed by the Hopkins people that the state committee has the power under a provision of the party constitution to name the temporary chairman. This constitution and the particular plank in which the Hopkins people take such pride, were written by the men who are now managing the Hearst movement, when they were in control of the party machinery several years ago. They claim now, however, that the convention is sovereign in itself. And that the plank was not intended for any such use as that to which the Hopkins people now desire to put it. The attitude of a large number of the delegates is an unknown quantity, even to the managers of both sides in the fight. The primaries were held May 6, and now both sides admit that they are not certain of the exact number of men they can control. The Harrison men from Cook county who are for Congressman Williams for vice president are supposed to number about 160, and they amount to little save in the possibility of being able to throw the balance of power in the event of an even break between the Hearst and Hopkins people.

Lawrence B. Stringer of Lincoln, William Prentiss of Chicago, and W. C. Collins of Joliet are the leading candidates for governor, but there is little action so far in this direction, nor is there likely to be until the fight for the control of the party machinery is finished. The state central committee selected Frank P. Quinn of Peoria as temporary chairman of the convention, and if the Hopkins people control the convention his appointment will be made permanent.

Utah Doesn't Want Them. Salt Lake, Utah, June 14.—A special from Price, Utah, the center of the Carbon county coal fields, says that if any of the union miners of Victor and Cripple Creek are brought into Utah, Sheriff Wilcox will run a special train to meet them and take them back into Colorado.

Trainmaster's Fatal Negligence. Cleveland, Ohio, June 14.—George W. Johnson, trainmaster of the Toledo division of the Lake Shore road, was struck by a train near Port Clinton, Ohio, and so badly injured that he died soon afterward. He stepped from a car directly in front of a rapidly moving train.

London Rejects Dowie. London, June 14.—It is understood that John Alexander Dowie has decided to return to the United States by the first steamer. In strongly worded denunciatory editorials the London papers today express unbounded satisfaction with Dowie's speedy departure.

Natural Gas Explosion. Bradford, Pa., June 14.—In a natural gas explosion last evening E. Lawrence was killed, another man fatally injured, the home of R. I. Shekels was wrecked and property valued at $31,000 was destroyed. Several persons had narrow escapes from death.

Gave Up Pursuit. Glenwood Springs, Colo., June 14.—The chase for the two Denver & Rio Grande train robbers who escaped from the posse which surrounded them in Garfield canyon after shooting their companion several days ago, has been abandoned.

Their Boat Overtaken. Burlington, Ia., June 14.—Ceel Hall and Walter Goldthwaite were drowned in the river last night. Four high-school classmates were with them in a boat, which was overturned in a collision with a barge.

Jeffries Has Bum Kneecap. San Francisco, June 14.—Owing to the injury to Jeffries' knee the Jeffries-Munroe fight has been postponed. The fight will take place June 30.

DEFIANT "BOOKIES"

May Precipitate a Bloody Riot on Derby Day. Chicago, June 14.—A riot similar to the one at the Garfield park racetrack in 1893, when Captain J. H. Brown of Texas was killed and many others badly hurt, may occur at the Washington Park racetrack next Saturday, when the annual race meeting of the Washington Park club will begin, with the American Derby as the chief attraction.

Pursuant to orders of Mayor Harrison, that bookmaking on horse races is not to be permitted in Chicago in any form, Chief of Police O'Neil declares that the orders of the mayor will be carried out to the letter. The bookmakers have announced that they intend to do business at Washington Park this year as usual, and unless one side or the other changes its attitude, a serious clash seems inevitable.

The war against the bookmakers is one phase of the fight now being waged by the University of Chicago and other owners of property in the district in which the racetrack lies, to abolish the track altogether. The Washington Park track management has already announced that the stand of the city officials against bookmaking will not interfere with the running of the Derby on Saturday.

Sickness steals more savings than the burglar. Slowly, coin by coin, the money that has been so hard earned is paid out for drugs and doctors. Sickness is the worst enemy of the working man, and the common cause of the working man's sickness is disease of the stomach often involving the heart, lungs, liver, or kidneys.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will stop the stealing of the savings by sickness. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., when these diseases are caused by the diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs.

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Wm. Consoley, of 33 Walnut Street, Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bloat and I would belch up gas, and was in awful distress at such times. I have employed and been treated by the best doctors in the city but got no help whatever. By some way or other I happened to get hold of a vial of your 'Pellies,' and I thought they helped me. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint, and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing else is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

THE ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION

As Observed by the Writer in Two Days.

Last Friday being "Indiana Press Day" at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition the writer joined the Hoosier pencil pushers, about 200 in number, and spent two very pleasant and profitable days on the exposition grounds. But two days are not sufficient to see this greatest of all the world's fairs. In so short a time one can only make a general observation, for the magnitude of this exposition is something wonderful.

The Columbian Exposition in 1893 was a big show but this surpasses that in many ways. It is larger, covering 1240 acres, while the Chicago Exposition covered 633 acres. The exhibits in general are on a more magnificent scale and the buildings are larger and in most instances more beautiful in architectural design. There is a decided improvement in the state buildings and of these none are more attractive or better designed than the Indiana building. Some are more imposing and cost more money than others but even these fall short of the purpose for which these state buildings were built when compared with the Indiana building.

The visitor can spend days and days, even weeks, in the large buildings and then not be through. The agricultural building alone covers twenty acres and has over four miles of aisles. The transportation, varied industries, manufactures, liberal arts, electricity, education and social economy, fine arts and a few more are other buildings of large proportions with attractive exhibits. The time you spend in these different buildings and with the different exhibits will depend upon your taste. But no matter what you are especially interested in you will find things in each of these buildings that will attract and please you. In the manufactures' building you will be pleased to find a very attractive exhibit of the products of the Seymour Woolen Mill.

The U. S. Government building is one you should not miss. The government live bird exhibit is worth seeing, as is the fisheries building. You can spend an hour or two quite profitably in the Philippine exhibit. Our time was too short to visit the foreign buildings so we pass them up without comment until our next trip.

The Pike, well everybody goes down the Pike. It is a popular highway with pay stations only a few paces apart. It costs money to see everything on the Pike. Some of the concessions you will not care to see, some that you do see may be disappointing, while others will please you very much. Those that most favor with the newspaper crowd are "The Tyrolean Alps," "Under and Over the Sea," "Galveston Flood," "Creation," "Hagenbeck's," and a few others. But follow the crowd down the Pike and take your choice of attractions.

A view of the exposition at night, is one sight you can not afford to miss. The decorative lighting surpasses in beauty anything of the kind ever attempted before. Beautiful as are the cascades in the day time, the sight at night is far more impressive.

Anyone who appreciates the historical, educational and industrial value of a World's Fair will enjoy and profit by a few days' visit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

For a Hundred Years

For a hundred years or more Witch Hazel has been recognized as a superior remedy, but it remained for E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, to discover how to combine the virtues of Witch Hazel with other antiseptics, in a form of a salve. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best salve in the world for sores, cuts, burns, bruises and piles. The high standing of this salve has given rise to counterfeits, and the public is advised to look for the name "DeWitt" on the package, and accept no other. Sold by A. J. Pellens and W. F. MISSIONARY TEA.

Pleasant Afternoon for the Evangelical Missionary Society.

The Missionary Tea in a Japanese Garden given by the Evangelical Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church at the residence of Mrs. J. S. Mills, yesterday afternoon, was a very unique and pleasant affair. The occasion being the regular monthly meeting of the Evangelical Missionary Society, the first part of the afternoon was devoted to the missionary lesson for the month, the topic being Japan. The President, Mrs. Abe, opened the meeting with scripture reading, which was followed by prayer by Mrs. Laird and the report of the Secretary.

Young ladies in Japanese costume then presented to each person a rose, to which was attached a sentence or short paragraph relating to the missionary work in Japan. After the reading of these passages, Mrs. Jacka gave a short talk on Japan. Mrs. Jacka clearly proved to her audience that this is not only a subject upon which she is very well informed, but also one in which she is vitally interested, and it was as much the interest and enthusiasm of the speaker herself, as the truth and beauty of her thoughts, that made this a most entertaining, interesting and instructive talk. A missionary recitation by Miss Myra Laupus closed this part of the programme.

While the Japanese young ladies' served refreshments, several mental tests were proposed which severely tested the wits and wisdom of the ladies, but each and every one acquitted herself with credit and honor.

The Japanese attire of the young ladies, the Japanese umbrellas, lanterns and other decorations pleased the eye, while the sweet strains of low music from mandolin and guitar under the skillful fingers of Miss McDuff, Miss Kerckhoff and Mrs. Kerckhoff charmed the ear and made this one of the most delightful and interesting afternoons ever given by the Evangelical Missionary Society.

Boys' Drum Corps.

At the morning "attention" Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock the boys lined up as follows:

Francis Stewart, age 10, Phil Cordes, age 9, Frank Schwab, age 11, Ben Carpenter, age 11, Leland Hadley, age 8, Charley Johnson, age 11, Cash McOscar, age 11, Frank Moore, age 12, Joe Swope, age 11, Duncan Read, age 10, Jim Hancock, age 7, McKown Whitecomb, age 11, Irving Glasson, age 10, A. Bartlett, age 7, Ralph Graupner, age 12, Fred Whitcomb, age 6, Merrill Montomery, age 11, Rea Gilbert, age 10, Albert Ross, age 10, Noble Able, age 11, Gilbert Able, age 8, Frank Gilbert, age 8, Orril Whitset, age 10, Archie Whitset, age 7, Murrell Dannett, age 6, Oscar Sheppard, age 6, Wilford Gelle, age 8, Omer Gossett, age 5, Louis Cordes, age 10, Willis Green, age 12, Joe Brown, age 12, Emil Rains, age 12, Carlos Brown, age 10, Karl Willey, age 10, Robert Kidd, age 12, Glen Shipman, age 6.

The management wishes to announce to the parents of these boys and the public that the purpose is not political nor does the management expect any financial gain whatever.

Its interest and purpose is purely patriotic, and if the citizens will cooperate with these boys at the proper time they will undoubtedly produce a source of entertainment the city will be proud of. In due time drums, uniforms, and other paraphernalia will be purchased and the organization will be equipped complete for public parade.

If the plans are carried out when the boys arrive at the age of 14 their names will be dropped and others be placed, this making the organization permanent and the instruments will remain the property of the organization. The boys will assemble as before in front of the Postoffice on Wednesday and Saturdays at 5 p. m. until further orders. Next Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock the boys will elect a captain, lieutenant and drum major.

Of the boys' obedience to all rules of order is expected and absolutely necessary to make the organization a success. In this connection the parents can very materially assist. Of the public, hearty co-operation is solicited and the boys will do the rest.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets Better than any Doctor's Prescription.

Mr. J. W. Turner, of Trubart, Va., says that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets have done him more good than anything he could get from the doctor. If any physician in this country was able to compound a medicine that would produce such gratifying results in cases of stomach trouble, biliousness or constipation, his whole time would be used in preparing this one medicine. QUAY'S LAST FIGHT

An Interesting Incident of the Historic Statehood Struggle in the Senate.

"WHIPPED TO A STANDSTILL"

Congressman Charles B. Landis Gives the True Inwardness of Notable Bout Between the Late Senator Quay and Senator Beveridge.

Senator Quay's death has brought out many stories of the great Pennsylvania politician, but none is more interesting than one told by Representative Charles B. Landis of Delphi about the now historic statehood struggle between Quay and Senator Beveridge of Indiana. Mr. Landis' story has some additional interest from the fact that it appeared in the last issue of the Indianapolis Journal.

"Speaking of Senator Quay," said Representative Landis at the Columbia Club, "reminds me that the only real defeat Quay ever suffered during the eight years I have been in congress was at the hands of Senator Beveridge. Our junior senator tackled Quay and whipped him to a standstill. He not only did that but he made Quay admit that he was whipped."

"It was when the bill for the admission of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona to statehood was up for consideration. Quay had all sorts of interests in New Mexico and Arizona, including railroads, mines and ranches and after planting some senatorial seed which he thought would grow and ripen about the time statehood came along, he arranged for a unanimous report from the house committee on territories of a bill admitting the three territories. It was called the omnibus bill, and it did not take long for the leaders to discover that the bill was going through the house on a gallop. The way had been prepared for it. Quay having planned it all. He knew his power in the senate, and did not think for a moment there would be any opposition there."

"Beveridge was chairman of the committee on territories. He held the bill back, and when Quay requested a report Beveridge replied that the committee was not ready to report, that the committee had not had time to give the matter the consideration it demanded. Quay was fairly consumed with indignation. He was accustomed to having his own way, and the mere thought of a young senator like Beveridge standing in his path and shaking his fist in his face almost crazed him. Quay went to Florida for two months, returned in the midst of warm weather, as congress was about to adjourn, and coolly announced that his statehood bill would pass or there would be no adjournment. Beveridge replied: 'All right we will stay here all summer.' And for several days there was as interesting a parliamentary contest as has ever been seen in congress. Quay was mad, downright mad. He could not conceal his anger. Beveridge never lost his head. He was deference personified and the senate never before realized into what graceful sentences senatorial courtesy could be weaved until Beveridge got to assuring Quay of his esteem, his friendship, his affection, his love, his everything—except his consent that the statehood bill should pass."

"When the fight started not one person in fifty in Washington but thought Beveridge was walking through a slaughter house to an open grave. Quay could not stand a summer campaign, and so a truce was agreed on and the bill went over to the next session, with the understanding that it should have the right of way. Congress adjourned and Beveridge put in the summer loading up. He visited the territories and amassed a fund of information that was astonishing. In addition he studied the history of the admission of all the states to the Union, packed his mind with facts and when the next session opened was ready. So was Quay. Day after day the contest went on. The Democrats favored statehood, knowing the three territories promised to be Democratic, and that meant six additional senators. They flew to the assistance of Quay. Beveridge did not seem to need help. Indeed, the older Republican senators, who had seen Quay do so many things in a roughshod way and with an iron hand, appeared to rejoice silently at the plight of the boss, who had boasted of never having lost a battle."

"I have seen Beveridge engaged in that contest with a half-dozen opponents at one time and clean them out beautifully, put them out of business like a trained athlete boxing with amateurs. His conduct was simply a delight to Colonel 'Pete' Hepburn, the most masterful debater in public life. His undying admiration Beveridge won by that fight. The contest held the boards during the entire session. Quay demanding an immediate vote, or that a day be set for a vote and Beveridge insisting on further time for deliberation, consideration and discussion. Beveridge had but one goal toward which he fought and that was to fight off a vote, for he knew he was in a hopeless minority. I have never seen a greater victory won in the senate. None who was not a consummate parliamentarian and tactician could have won it. It was a victory for endurance, courage and industry. It was Quay's last fight. He never mustered courage to make another. In that fight Beveridge made history. But for him New Mexico and Arizona would each today be a state."

Women as Well as Men

Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, sours and lessens ambition; beats, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine smells the flesh or if when the child reaches an age when he should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet, "Home of Swamp Root," telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer, & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, remember the name, Swamp Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

STILL IN THE DARK

St. Petersburg Without Definite Information From Port Arthur.

MAKING NO GUESSES

In the Absence of Intelligence on Progress of Siege No Speculations Are Indulged In.

General News From Southern Part of Liao Tung Peninsula Is of the Scantiest.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—No information has reached the general staff regarding the reported ambushing of Russians at Pulan Tien as the result of which they were alleged to have lost 800 men. The only thing of the least significance in this connection is a short dispatch received from Major General Karkovitch, which was sent on June 12, the day the battle is said to have occurred. General Karkovitch does not mention the Pulan Tien fight, of which the authorities presume he would have heard had it occurred. His dispatch only covered events up to the preceding day.

General news from the southern part of the Liao Tung peninsula is of the scantiest, and, in the absence of official news, the officials here are not inclined to speculate as to the situation. Nothing further has been heard from Port Arthur.

The reports of continuous skirmishing along the railroad south of Vafandien are taken to show that the Cosacks are keeping the Japanese busy in protecting their rear. While heavy fighting is not regarded as being imminent, a more or less severe brush with the enemy is likely at any time.

NAVAL OPERATIONS

Admiral Togo Makes a Report on Recent Activities.

Tokio, June 14.—A long report has been received here from Admiral Togo in which he covers the operations of the fleet since June 6 and repeats his former account of the bombardment of the west coast of the Liao Tung peninsula. Continuing, the admiral says that the captain of a foreign vessel that left Yinkow on Wednesday, June 8, reports that the recent Japanese bombardment in the vicinity of Kaiping, south of New Chwang, killed Russian forces to the number of 200 with twenty guns, to estimate of 20. Two men were taken prisoner.

TO LEAD DELEGATION

George B. Cox Will Head Ohio's Forces at Chicago Convention.

Chicago, June 14.—It is announced that George B. Cox, one of the Ohio delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention, will be selected as chairman of the Ohio delegation at Chicago next week without opposition.

THE WRIT DENIED

Judge Downey Sends James Gillespie Back to Jail.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 14.—Judge Downey yesterday heard the habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Jas. Gillespie, indicted for the murder of his sister, Elizabeth Gillespie, at Rising Sun. The case was opened by Special Deputy Prosecutor Cassius R. McMullen, who read a motion to quash the habeas corpus procedure, citing several authorities in support of his motion. After hearing the arguments Judge Downey denied the writ of habeas corpus and ordered that the prisoner be remanded back to the Ohio county jail.

Nashville Is Crowded.

Nashville, Tenn., June 14.—Nashville is crowded with visitors, veterans and delegates to the fourteenth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, which opened officially today. The convention was called to order at noon in the tabernacle by General G. W. Gordon of Memphis as department commander, and after several welcoming speeches the acting commander-in-chief, Lieutenant General Stephen D. Lee, delivered his address. It seems to be the general impression that General Lee will be elected unanimously to succeed the late General John B. Gordon.

Former Officials Guarded.

Victor, Colo., June 14.—A military escort accompanied J. J. Brothers, formerly marshal of Goldfield, and Robert McCarthy, former night marshal of that town, to their homes in order to allow them to adjust some personal affairs preparatory to their departure from the district. These men were compelled to resign on account of their alleged partiality to the cause of the striking miners. They were subsequently placed in the "bull pen."

Covered the Globe Awheel. San Francisco, June 14.—After a journey of 37,000 miles on a bicycle through foreign lands, Rev. Henry Spickler, graduate of the Chicago University of Divinity, has returned to this country on the United States transport Logan from Manila, after a three years' absence. Mr. Spickler started three years ago from his native town in Upper Alton, Ill., and since that time he has visited nearly every country on the globe.

Robbed by Robbers. Marshall, Mo., June 14.—In a battle between three alleged postoffice robbers and a posse of citizens in this city, two of the robbers were badly wounded and captured, while the third man escaped. One of the captured men says his name is John Regan, aged twenty-five years, of Little Rock, Ark. The other man says he is twenty-one years of age and gives the name of Harry Reeves of Birmingham, Ala.

Lieutenant Killed by Lightning. Leavenworth, Kan., June 14.—Lieutenant Nathaniel T. Bower, engineer corps of Fort Leavenworth, was killed near the target range. The officer was on his way to the range to shoot, when a bolt of lightning out of a comparatively clear sky struck his rifle, which he was carrying, passed through the arm into the right breast and out through his shoes. He was to have been married in July.

Evenly Matched Pair of Pugs. Helena, Mont., June 14.—Jack O'Keefe and "Honey" Melody went twenty rounds to a draw here for the white welterweight championship.

Sued by His Doctor. "A doctor here has sued me for $12.50, which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used as I had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." No doctor could use a better remedy than this in a case of cholera morbus, it never fails. Sold by C. W. Milhaus.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of Triumph of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering with injuries entail. For sale by C. W. Milhaus.
